His Excellency the Right Honourable Julian Hedworth George, Baron Byng of Vimy, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., R.V.O., Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief of the Dominion of Canada, who will visit Blairmore on Friday, August 8th.

UNION CHURCH DECORATED

During the last week a clean-up bee has been in progress at the Union Church. The interior has been very nicely decorated and never looked neater than now. We understand that the exterior is to be made attractive with a heavy coat of stucco.

The annual meeting of the Alberta and Southeastern British Columbia Tourist Association will be held at Fernie early in September. One of the matters to be discussed will be the extension of the scope of the association to include towns as far east as Moose Jaw and Regina, and possibly Winnipeg and the adoption of a name for the association that will better identify the whole district. In such case the Rocky Mountain or Crows' Nest Pass Branch should not lose its identity.

CORRESPONDENCE

Blairmore, Alta., July 29, 1924.
To The Editor,
Blairmore Enterprise.

Dear Sir:

While I desire to commend you for the article in your last issue, dealing with the arrest and imprisonment of the unfortunate persons who were endeavoring to reach some place to obtain employment, by the box-car route, I feel that too much stress is placed on the fact of their arrest by the police; and while the police in most instances have a generous quantity of human element that makes us respect them, there are others whose actions cause our disbelief.

To offset this, however, the Government have appointed men to dispense the law, and when these unfortunate ones are arraigned before these dignitaries, it is to be expected that justice will prevail.

Like yourself, I and many other residents are at a loss to know by what process of law or reason the father and son mentioned, after exhausting their means as immigrants in a new country to obtain work, endeavoring to reach some place as quickly as possible in such a manner, should have had to suffer imprisonment. I cannot feel that the C.P.R. Company, who had probably taken their money and brought them here, has immediately turned round and laid information for their arrest. Surely not, but to the contrary I feel they realize that less crime results from a person hungry and in despair travelling to some place in a box car, than would be likely to happen if travelling by foot on the roads, and as the police are not the final arbiters in such arrests, let us place the blame where it rightly belongs.

Respectfully yours,
A CITIZEN.

The film of mystery brought into the O'Malley's number by their own motherless son was strangling him and had been interpreted as a sign of the study of the exhibits he had sacrificed. Yet, speculate as he would, there was no other apparent link of suspicion than that the son's name's great loss was at loss how to proceed until he had questioned the man for whom the warrant had been issued.

Each day he looked at the exits, our outstanding film came to mind. No Eskimo held even a hold, after his woman had cured it, longer than it took to get to the handiest trader. He had been so intent upon his studies that two fox pelt worth many times their weight in gold, would have been in the hands of a ne'er-do-well like Ayle so soon after they were marketable. How, then, had the native come by them?

Under ordinary circumstances, and under the array of suffering that followed the attack, he might have waited prior to the tragedy, he might have gone to Harry Karmack with his problem. At least, the fact could have given him an unbiased opinion as to when the skins had become pets by virtue of trapping and tanning.

But a breach yawned between the two—one unwillingly caused by the fatality of the attack which occurred prior to the tragedy, he might have gone to Harry Karmack with his problem. At least, the fact could have given him an unbiased opinion as to when the skins had become pets by virtue of trapping and tanning.

The unfortunate brother had been laid away upon the highest knoll near the house, a simple casket conducted by Rev. Morrow. The girl had held up under her bereavement with a courage that commanded all their admiration, and the real cause of Oliver's death had reached her so guarded had been the four bresident whites who knew, from the Eskimo, of the coming of the native.

Any one who knew the man, could have read the sergeant's interest in his native friend. Contrary to winter practices of toil, the Eskimo's face had been clean shaved from the morning after Mr. Morris' departure. The girl, in her part, however, tenacity of her character had quieted little attention to the young woman.

The girl had held up under her bereavement with a courage that commanded all their admiration, and the real cause of Oliver's death had reached her so guarded had been the four bresident whites who knew, from the Eskimo, of the coming of the native. She had accepted the report of an "incident of the Arctic" and had asked no embarrassing questions as to details. The family of the deceased, satisfied that nothing else mattered.

A week after the funeral, a stranger would not have known from her manner that she had been derived from the ranks of her deceased brother. She never spoke of having a phthisis of life, but something of the sort seemed to sustain her. Her whole bearing was such that she determined not to make others unhappy with her personal grief. All had their lives to live in a location where Harry Karmack and Mrs. O'Malley would do her utmost to make the winter as happy as might be. She did not even ask if it were not possible to go "outside," now that the reason for her presence had been removed by fate.

Harry Karmack, bearing a book to Mr. Morris' house, was about to knock when the thought might be diverted thereby had been the first of the rivals to discover her mental attitude.

Cobourg, Ont.—"For many years I have had trouble with my nerves and have been in a general run down condition. It has done me good and I strongly recommend it. Since I have taken it I have been able to do all my own house work. I am a widow who have found it good. You can use the facts as a testimonial."—Mrs. ELLEN FORTIER, Box 131, Cobourg, Ont.

W. N. U. 1636

He had been prompt to act on his important discovery. Besides the voice, he left an invitation to dinner to Russell and his wife, and to Dr. Russell Seymour, official head of the tiny community, who was not among those present, having received no invitation.

There was a sense of camp excitement which could not be overlooked. Far worse than the cut direct, it was nearly as much an insult as a blow in the face. When a handful of whites were segregated from the Indians, they naturally cling to each other, as they do to the "elders." Everyone possible within the pale of Indian influence was appalled at a function. Even they retain a semi-sense of presentability.

There was another question that Factor Harry Karmack's dinner was a function. Although it had never been mentioned by Moira or the Morrows, the factor had his details. These had been relayed by the factor, who had them direct from the Arctic's interpreter, the latter having acted as butler for the all-important occasion. The man had been in courses, mind you, for the first time in the history of the camp. The factor's store of delicacies, even to the last plum dumpling, intended for the Christmas feast, had been freely broached.

Seymour could not hope to equal the factor's tact in forces rather than in words, but he did his best. The man had accepted his invitation to a sourdine luncheon. The factor had got accepted for an excellent reason that you probably can imagine.

For the next minutes, Seymour and his guests stood and watched the toga with amazement. He went at the deer shank after the fashion of the housekeeping of quarters. In fact, he had come, as was attested by the known fact of his arrival.

More lovely than ever, Moira seemed to him as she returned a smile to his enthusiastic greetings. She was resolute to-day, actively. In white, the girl had never seen her look anything but black.

"What a snow bird you are, Moira!" he exclaimed, almost forgetting to green the mission. "I'm relieved you're not packing a gun, Sergeant Scarlet."

"Not even side arms," he said, referring to the gun he had brought along. "I'm the one that's wounded—Fluttered. Put your wraps in the tent, all of you, and I'll put you to work."

For the first time, Harry noticed the slave-setting he had created for his social bow. Every stick of furniture had been removed and the floor covered with red plush mosa, gray, soft rug and carpet. Two large, simple beds with outspread sleeping bags were evidently intended to serve as seats. The "tent" which he had referred to was a dromedary camel, with door leading into his own room. About the hearth were scattered pots, pans and dishes of the like. The fireplace glow in its fire had promised to grow dim for cultural service.

"So this is what you meant by a 'sour-dough party,'" observed Mrs. Morris, smiling. "I'm sorry I delayed your enthusiasm over the incident."

"Wonder if I'm hard-blitten enough now to get the idea?" Moira asked him.

"We're hitting the trail," explained the missionary. "We've just pitched camp and are about to make muck-muck. As Northwesterners never travel a day's distance without a door leading into his own room. About the hearth were scattered pots, pans and dishes of the like. The fireplace glow in its fire had promised to grow dim for cultural service."

When the fire glowed brightly, Harry Karmack stepped forward, which he suspended a shank of caribou on a w-e as supple as a piece of string. Beneath, he placed a pan to receive the meat. To Moira he enunciated a second wire snap, indicating an occasional pull kept the meat turning.

"There's nothing more delicious than rotis caribou," he advised her, "and this is the very best way to roast it."

Lake Morris' was to attend the baking of a dozen foot-long loaves of grotose—which the sergeant had shot that morning. To Mrs. Morris, he was the talk of the pick of the town. The "one" he had referred to was a dromedary camel, with door leading into his own room. About the hearth were scattered pots, pans and dishes of the like. The fireplace glow in its fire had promised to grow dim for cultural service."

"And you, Russell?" queried the girl, for she soon had taken to him, as if he were a son.

"Because of your rank, I suppose you'll merely boss the job and eat twice as much as the rest of us."

He did not answer, but fell to his knees beside the open mouth of a four-ack. With the aid of baking powder, he quickly made a paste, which he greased a grotose—pan with a length of bacon rind, he filled it with the dough and stood it up facing the fire.

"The prim-o- feast at last was ready and they fell upon it seated on the floor upon the moss. The sarcasm of the sergeant was not lost on Mr. Morris in complimenting the fair spit attendant, that you could put your finger through it."

"Don't waste time putting anything through your teeth," remarked their host.

Later, when they had turned to morsels and condensed "cow," provided by the sergeant, the girl regretted that Symcox's attractive young constable was not present to share the feast.

"I have been able to do all my own house work since I have found it good," she remarked.

"Not a word."

Snapping his tone started the girl. "Has he gone on a dangerous mission?" she asked. "Are you worried about him?" she shook his hand. "He's one of the trail-boys and will find others to stand by if he's in trouble."

After a moment's silence, he quoted:

"The card that ties the trail-boys has been dashed."

Their struggles are seldom known, because Through hills undriven These daring aridita roam where there

Naught but God."

The spell of silence that followed his pronouncement of the Deity was broken by a harrumphing on the outer door. Seymour was the summons that Seymour sprang to his feet, crossed the room and flung the door open, only to start back in amazement.

"Ay, ay, of the foxes, by all that's holy!" he exclaimed.

Framed in doorway, in small proportions, from the outside out of the wolverine-habits of his, the fugitive Eskimo stood alone. Instead of handcuffs on his wrists, he held a rifle across his breast.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Hero Fugitive

As the sergeant, who had been intent upon seeing the ride, the huge raw-boned Kogmoglye came into the room with a board that carried him across the floor. The man had had every appearance of a demon—but before Seymour could grapple with him the lack of breath had manifested.

The ride. A caribou was drawn, regardlessly to the floor. With a snarl! Inhuman the Eskimo threw down beside the platter of carbonized meat. The man had been led into a trap.

Moira could not hope to equal the factor's tact in forces rather than in words, but he did his best. The man had accepted his invitation to a sourdine luncheon. The factor had got accepted for an excellent reason that you probably can imagine.

Three times Mission House were coming this very moon and the sergeant's party was the last of the morning correcting the household keepings of quarters. In fact, he had come, as was attested by the known fact of his arrival.

More lovely than ever, Moira seemed to him as she returned a smile to his enthusiastic greetings. She was resolute to-day, actively. In white, the girl had never seen her look anything but black.

FILM VANCOUVER AUTHOR'S BOOK AT FORT MACLEOD

The Western Picture Company, filming "Policing the Plains," is now engaged in picturization of Macleod as it was in the early days. A replica of the original Fort Macleod has been built across the river on the old site, together with the old trading posts and stores. Next week the company will move on to the Blood Indian Reserve for scenes of the Sun Dance, which will be held there for two or three weeks.

ARCHBISHOP FAVORS POPE'S MODEST DRESS CAMPAIGN

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 23.—Archbishop Shaw, of the Catholic diocese of Louisiana, commenting on the campaign against women's immodesty of dress recently launched by the pope, told the New Orleans item to day that the clothes worn by many women upon the streets of New Orleans are an invitation to insults.

"What women do not seem to take into consideration is the fact that to be scantily clad is far more shocking and immodest than to be clad at all. The wife admits the facts of nature, the other hints at them in a suggestive and hence indecent manner," the item quotes the archbishop as saying.

"I don't think it could be safely left to each woman's conscience to decide what constitutes modesty of dress, for it is a sad fact that in such matters many women are without conscience. Let the high-minded women decide for the rest—decide some such scheme as proposed in pledge cards to be distributed by the National Council of Catholic Women."

"Far be it from me to try to explain or design women's clothes, but I do think women should dress."

Mr. C. J. Tompkins of Frank, district agent for the Sun Life Assurance Company, has purchased the residence property of J. J. Purvis and takes possession this weekend. We understand that Mr. Tompkins will immediately move his family to the new home. Mr. and Mrs. Purvis are as yet undecided as to their future plans, but hope to visit for a few weeks in the Cranbrook district. Mr. and Mrs. Purvis have been residents of Blairmore for the past sixteen years and their departure is sincerely regretted.

Worse and Worse

It read: "A. Swindler."

A friend advised him to have the sign repainted, using his first name instead of his initial.

When the sign reappeared it read: "Adam Swindler."

During the past few months, Hon. Alex. Ross, minister of public works, has visited this district on several occasions, and on one or two occasions, at least, has travelled by motor over the road between Lundbreck and Crows' Nest; but, judging by a letter received by the president of the Blairmore Board of Trade last week, he did not notice anything particularly bad about the roads. He thanked the president for this "first intimation" that there will be a general federal election in November next.

Opposition opinion in Ottawa is that there will be a general federal election in November next.

It is more than possible that the wholesale reduction of freight rates would create enough new business for the railway to increase its net profits materially.

But if the C.P.R. is not prepared to adopt that policy in its broadest application, the only course that remains is to lower transportation rates by reducing operating costs.

And the project that would have most effect in reducing costs would be iron out the mountain grades by the use of electric locomotives.

The electric locomotive has more than twice the power of the steam locomotive. It can be operated at approximately one-half the cost. It is not affected by extreme climatic conditions. It would enable the company to operate a train of 20 cars over 100 miles of mountain grade at approximately the same expense at which a train of 20 cars can be operated over 100 miles of level grade with a steam locomotive.

Electrification of the Canadian Pacific lines through the Rockies would enable the railway to render maximum service to this end of Canada, and at the same time produce maximum profits for itself. - Vancouver Sun.

The Canadian Senate

The much debated question of reform of the Senate of Canada is at long last to be removed from the realm of academic discussion into the arena of practical politics. If it could only be removed at the same time from partisan dispute this country would be the gainer.

Prior to the recent prorogation of Parliament, Premier King announced that at the next session the Government would introduce legislation having for its object an appeal to the British Parliament to so amend the British North America Act as to confer on the House of Commons of Canada the same measure of authority and control over legislation initiated by that body as is now enjoyed by the British House of Commons.

Like the Canadian Senate, the House of Lords had a habit of "killing" measures passed by the Commons and sent to the Lords for their approval. Year after year the Lords had nullified the efforts of the Government of which Lloyd George was a member, and finally the consent of the Crown was obtained to a measure which provides that if a Bill passes the Commons three times in the same session, or in a period of not less than two years, becomes law whether the Lords pass it or not. Since the passage of this Act, the House of Lords has not withheld the assent of any bill.

Premier King proposed that the British Parliament shall confer on the Canadian House of Commons the same authority as is now enjoyed by the British House of Commons. In other words, a Bill passes the Canadian Commons at three consecutive sessions the Senate shall be powerless to prevent it becoming the law of the Dominion.

It will be seen, therefore, that the proposal is not so much one of reform, of the Senate as a curtailment of the veto powers of that body.

The Government has been forced to action by the rising tide of public opinion against the autocratic action of the Senate in "killing" legislation desired by a large majority of the people. This year, for a second time, the Senate destroyed the branch-line programme of the Canadian National Railways and deprived thousands of Western settlers of urgently needed means of transportation. In like manner the Senate voted the legislation providing for the distribution of the canteen funds belonging, not to Canada, but to Canada's ex-service men. The Senate also over-rode the recommendations of the Royal Commission, a Parliamentary Committee and the unanimous decision of the House of Commons to make the soldiers' bonus permanent, and in other ways mutilated legislation designed to assist Canada's returned soldiers.

Inasmuch as the Canadian Senate is wholly and absolutely beyond the control of the people, it is probably the most undemocratic legislative body in the world today, showing a almost complete disregard for the wishes of the people. It has become an impotent, unnecessary, and useless body.

While it is a Liberal Government in Canada, as it was a Liberal Government in Great Britain, which is moving to curtail the veto power of the Upper Chamber, such action should not be made a party question nor a partisan issue. The Senate has mutilated and killed legislation passed by the Commons on the initiative of both Liberal and Conservative Governments, and the party in opposition today may be the victim of the irresponsibility of the Senate tomorrow.

In a democratic country like Canada, the elected representatives of the people must govern, and unless some reasonable guarantee is provided that the people's will shall prevail, the people will eventually wipe the Second Chamber out of existence.

The Senate was designed to provide a check, a safeguard, against hasty legislation by the Commons on a wave of popular but passing enthusiasm, and to provide an adequate opportunity for any aggression or injustice by the majority. But it was never intended that the Senate should usurp the right of nullifying the whole policy of the Government and the Government of the country.

The proposal that legislation might become effective if it passes the House of Commons three times is safe and sound. It provides an adequate opportunity for the feeling of the country to be tested. If public opinion does not support the Commons, that fact will be made manifest, and the legislation will be dropped or satisfactorily amended. But if in the next session elected representatives of the people record their approval of any Bill, it is fairly safe to assume that it represents the will of the people and should be considered effective. And no non-elected, life-appointed body should be allowed to prevent it.

Fifty-four Grain Elevators To Be Built in Saskatchewan

Sixty applications have been received from elevator companies for sites on the new Canadian National Railway branch lines, 54 of which are for points in Saskatchewan. Requests for sites have been made for six elevators on the St. Rose-Rosetown line, the proposed location being St. Rose and Methow.

Construction of these elevators, with a total storage capacity of 2,000,000 bushels, would involve an expenditure estimated at approximately $1,000,000.

Work on the construction of ten new elevators proceeding already at points in Saskatchewan, while material, such as rock, sand and cement, is on the ground for the erection of four or five other buildings.—Free Press.

Produces Gold From Mercury

German Scientist Makes Discovery That Has Puzzled Alchemists For Ages

Claiming to have realized one of the wildest dreams in human history, Dr. Adolf Methe, professor in the Charlottesville University of Engineering, announces he has discovered a method for the artificial production of gold and displays the proof of his achievement.

The first gold won by man through the decomposition of mercury glistered in the middle of a small cup of precious polished agate. In the view of Mr. Methe, it represents the materialization of a dream for which innumerable alchemists have toiled and died in vain from the days of Babylon to recent times.

Dr. Methe, in co-operation with his assistant, Dr. H. Strommrich, has covered that by the introduction of a certain amount of energy from the outside, mercury undergoes decomposition, which results in the production of gold and helium. Hitherto, it has been thought that mercury was an unalterable element.

Experiments with a so-called electric furnace filled with mercury, according to Dr. Methe, destroyed the intrinsic stability of the mercury and by a slow process caused its partial decomposition into gold.

Although Prof. Methe is of unquestioned authority in scientific circles, the discovery seemed so incredible, even to him, that the experiment was repeated, again and again, always with the same result.

NEW PROPOSAL FOR COMPLETION OF H. B. ROAD

Winnipeg.—A special despatch from Ottawa says: "Details became available of a proposal which is being made to the Government by a company which would purchase the Hudson Bay Railway. The company would complete the line, develop the harbor works and provide the necessary equipment. As a condition precedent to all this, it would put up a bond of $20,000,000."

"People behind the proposition are now said to be in New York arranging for the bond, and if it is forthcoming the Government will consider the matter."

The proposed memorandum of agreement provides that:

(1) That the Government is to sell the Hudson's Bay line, as it now stands, for $1.

(2) Lease the harbor improvements at Port Nelson and all other ports for $1.

(3) That no other company be allowed to build in the territory for the next 21 years.

(4) The 1,000 square miles adjacent to the railway be set aside for settlement, and as each settler locates, a full title to be given him.

(5) The company to be empowered to construct branch lines towards Winnipeg and the States and also to the Pacific coast. Mineral rights for ten miles on each side of the road to be allowed.

"The company undertakes:

(1) To put up a $20,000,000 bond for specific performance of the contract.

(2) To complete the road and Nelson harbor and operate the entire line within two years.

(3) Spend $4,000,000 on harbor works and elevators.

"In 25 years it guarantees to return the whole thing to the Government if interest were paid on the outlay."

Superiority Of British Law

Criminal Justice In U.S. Injured By Newspaper Publicity Says Chicago Paper

Chicago.—Criminal Justice in the United States is now a Roman holiday, and the courts are the Coliseum, the Chicago "Tribune" says editorially, pointing out the superiority of British law in regard to the conducting of trials.

"The Franks case has been a three months' moral pestilence imposed upon our people before the trial," says the editorial. "It is an aggravated instance of what has been repeated with increasing frequency for two decades since the Thaw trial and before."

"The injury to justice is in public before the trial. Newspaper trials before the case is called have become an abomination. The dangerous initiative that newspapers have taken in judging and convicting out of court is journalistic Lynch law."

"Prosecuting attorneys now hasten to the papers with their theories and confessions. Defendants do the same. Neither dare do otherwise. Half-witted juries or prejudiced juries are the inevitable result."

The Tribune admits it has its share of blame in this, and "declares no newspaper can escape it." They have gone mad, and insist on stirring stimulated public opinion to no good end.

"There is no remedy," the paper adds. "Drastic restriction of publicity before the trial must be imposed by law. England, by custom and by law, imposes such restrictions. English papers print only the briefest and coolest statement of the facts before the trial."

Going Direct to Alberta

Prince to Avoid All Steps On Way to Ranch

London.—The Prince of Wales, who as Lord Strathcona will sail for the United States on the Berengaria on August 23, will leave the ship on a tender and land at Long Island, the Canadian Press learns. At the conclusion of the international polo matches between teams representing Great Britain and the United States the Prince will take a train from New London, Connecticut, to Calgary direct. He is anxious to avoid stoppage in cities on either side of the border while on the way to his ranch in Alberta.

Australia Plans Big Exhibition

Sydney, Australia.—A great international exhibition in Australia is proposed. The Australian consul at Wembley has been greatly impressed at the popularity value of the British Empire Exhibition and believes that similar publicity would benefit the Island continent if an international exhibition were held in Australia.

Valuable Mineral Discovery In Peace River Country

Edmonton, Alta.—One of the most valuable minerals in the world today, lithium, has been discovered in the lower waters of the Peace River by the Canyon Gold Mining Company. A representative of an Edmonton syndicate returned from the north, after having filed claims for ten miles along the river, and he is of the opinion that a real old-time stampede will result from the discovery. The precious metal was discovered when drillers of the Canyon Gold Mining Company, drilling for gold, discovered quantities of the metal on the red rock.

Decrease In Bank Clearings

Considerable Drop Shown in Business Transacted During June

Ottawa.—The bank debts or the amount of cheques charged to individual accounts at the clearing house centres of Canada as reported to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics were $2,056,775,141 in June as compared with $2,290,109,812 in the preceding months.

This represents a decline of more than $233,000,000 or 10.2 per cent.

Nearly half of the decline was accounted for by seasonal tendencies and some part of the remainder was due to the fact of there having been five Sundays in June this year.

The decline in June was equivalent to 5.4 per cent. when adjustment was made for the seasonal variation. Another consideration cause of the decline was the dropping off of government business as shown by a fall of about $35,000,000 in the bank debts of Ottawa.

The bank clearings declined from $1,423,600,000 in May to $1,259,900,000 in June or about 12 per cent.

When corrected for seasonal variation by dividing by factor determined by the experience of the last ten years the adjusted clearings declined 7.2 per cent. only.

Nationalists Adopt Belligerent Attitude

Government Receives Resolution Containing Demands of German Party

Berlin.—The German National party of the Reichstag has adopted a resolution which it has sent to the Government, demanding that Germany shall not participate in the London inter-allied conference except on an equal footing with the allies.

The party also demands that prisoners held by the French and Belgians should be immediately released and exchanged for German prisoners.

In addition, the resolution insists on the evacuation of the Ruhr, the restoration of German railroads and the recognition of the authority of the German state; that Germany receive guarantees against further sanctions and that the period of occupation in the bridgehead zone be calculated from October, 1920.

The party declares it will oppose all proposed settlements which do not meet with its approval.

One Cause For Business Depression

Montreal.—The increasing demand for luxuries is partly responsible for the present depression in business, according to M. Lapointe, Secretary of the Quebec division of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, who has recently been investigating this question for members of the association.

Escapes Death Penalty

Eskimo Sentenced to Serve Five Years in Penitentiary

Edmonton.—There will be no hanging in the Arctic this year. Ikalupak, charged with the murder of Katia, wife of Havogach, was found guilty of manslaughter only, and sentenced to five years in Stony Mountain penitentiary, according to advice received here.

The judicial party was held up at Akluvik, with a day or two's delay in bringing the witness, so that the indefinite postponement of the trial resulted in northern wires the other day, did not last long.

Judge Lucien Dubé, with Alfred Dubé, Miss Yvonne Michaud, the judge's secretary, Irene Bourque, crown counsel, and J. Bird McHugh, defense counsel, all of Edmonton, are now at McMurchy, having completed their river journey of several thousand miles without mishap. The Eskimo prisoner, in charge of the Mounted Police, was brought to McMurchy on the same boat, and will be taken to Stony Mountain penitentiary at once.

NEW WIRELESS SYSTEM TO BE TRIED IN CANADA

London.—Vernon Hartshorn, Post Master-General, announced in the House of Commons that the Government had decided to adopt the main recommendations of the Imperial wireless telegraphy committee, which included some details to go into effect in July.

With the exception of the government business as shown by a fall of about $35,000,000 in the bank debts of Ottawa.

The bank clearings declined from $1,423,600,000 in May to $1,259,900,000 in June or about 12 per cent.

Tax On Grain Trading Is Allowed To Stand

Ottawa.—Disallowance of the Manitoba tax on trading in grain futures on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange has been waived by the Federal Government. It was learned on reliable authority, The status of this legislation is to be decided by the Privy Council—where argument will be heard, it is expected, at the autumn session.

It is in view of this that the Federal Government apparently has agreed to waive the right of disallowance of the bill introduced by Hon. R. W. Ormsby, Attorney-General of Manitoba. The act was passed at the 1923 session of the Manitoba Legislature. Shortly after the Government of Saskatchewan petitioned the Federal Government to disallow the statute on the ground that it was beyond the powers of the Manitoba Legislature to enact, inasmuch as it taxed Saskatchewan grain growers.

In the case of the Empire Food Committee, the Government has indicated its willingness to participate, but the negotiations have not yet advanced to the stage of definite appointment.

The round-table conference on imperial relations suggested some weeks ago by Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Colonial Secretary, is still very much in the air. No formal invitation has yet been issued and there has therefore been no consideration so far of Canadian representatives.

In view of the necessity of preparation and the time necessary to bring ministers from distant Dominions like Australia and New Zealand, the conference could not be held till towards the close of the year. More will probably be heard of it after the close of the present Inter-Allied Conference of the Dawes report.

WILL APPOINT CANADIAN FOR FOOD COMMITTEE

Ottawa.—The Government will shortly, it is expected, appoint a nominee to the Empire Food Committee proposed by the British Government. The proposal arises from the suggested permanent economic committee which Canada opposed at the Imperial Economic Conference. The ground taken by Canada was that a committee, given practically carte blanche to investigate all phases of economic questions, was objectionable, but that Canada would co-operate in a committee appointed to deal with any specific object.

In the case of the Empire Food Committee, the Government has indicated its willingness to participate, but the negotiations have not yet advanced to the stage of definite appointment.

In view of the necessity of preparation and the time necessary to bring ministers from distant Dominions like Australia and New Zealand, the conference could not be held till towards the close of the year. More will probably be heard of it after the close of the present Inter-Allied Conference of the Dawes report.

Alberta Crop Prospects

Hon. George Headley Denies Report Coming From Chicago

Edmonton.—"Quite unfounded," said Hon. George Headley, Minister of Agriculture, when asked about the Chicago-inspired report that Alberta will have only a 40,000,000 bushel wheat crop. No estimate has yet been made by the Government officials of the likely crop, and no information is yet available that will warrant even a reasonably accurate guess as to what the harvest will be.

"The situation is changing every day," said Mr. Headley. "And it would be impossible to make any estimate as compared with last year, or any other year. We are not saying anything that would give ground for such a report as has come from Chicago, but as a matter of opinion I will say that the 40,000,000 guess looks like an extremely low one. Present prospects even, to say nothing of improvements from day to day, are that we shall do very much better than that."

Last year's crop was over 160,000,000 bushels, and we shall not be anywhere near as far behind that figure as the Chicago estimate would make. The minister went on, "they will doubtless play their game as they please, but the fact is that there is no foundation for the blue ribbon story they are trying to spread. While it is unfortunate true there will be crop failures in some parts of the province, the larger number are arriving with their passage being assisted. This is checked up by an official of the department. Prior to this modification, the steamship companies were charged with too much seal in securing nomination papers from farmers or others, and there was some tendency to overcome by immigration to Canada, the result in the United States quota law. The total figures of immigration do not indicate, however, anything but a very normal movement."

The general tenor of the report is that the figures that were made, stated that since the Arnold committee, the discipline has been revised and supplemented to deal adequately with all future cases, while punishment has been awarded in the instances in which depositors had defrauded them and would take steps to reimburse them.
